The Board of Peace (BoP), chaired by US President Donald Trump, is a new international peace and transitional governance mechanism associated with the 2025 Gaza ceasefire agreement. Welcomed under United Nations Security Council Resolution 2803 (2025), it seeks to coordinate Gaza's reconstruction, temporary governance arrangements and international security assistance. However, by October 2026 implementation remains constrained by disagreements over disarmament, Israeli troop withdrawal, Palestinian governance and humanitarian access. The initiative raises important questions concerning international law, Palestinian self-determination, the two-state solution, the United Nations and India's strategic interests in West Asia.

1. Why Is the Board of Peace in the News?

The Board of Peace (BoP) is an international mechanism established to help coordinate the implementation of a US-backed plan for stabilisation and reconstruction in Gaza.

The initiative emerged from a 20-point Comprehensive Plan to End the Gaza Conflict, announced in September 2025. A ceasefire framework came into effect in October 2025.

On 17 November 2025, the United Nations Security Council adopted Resolution 2803, welcoming the establishment of the Board of Peace as a transitional administration.

The Board's charter was formally launched in Davos on 22 January 2026, with US President Donald Trump as chairman.

Latest Update: October 2026

A year after the ceasefire, implementation remains seriously constrained. Important disagreements persist over Hamas disarmament, Israeli withdrawal, Palestinian transitional governance and the deployment of an international force.

Reconstruction has advanced only to a limited extent, while humanitarian needs remain severe. The proposed arrangements should therefore not be confused with fully functioning institutions on the ground in Gaza.

2. Historical Background of the Israel-Palestine Conflict

A. UN Partition Plan, 1947

UN General Assembly Resolution 181 proposed partitioning British Mandatory Palestine into Jewish and Arab states, with a special international arrangement for Jerusalem.

B. Arab-Israeli War, 1948

The establishment of Israel in 1948 was followed by war involving neighbouring Arab states. Large numbers of Palestinians became refugees.

C. Six-Day War, 1967

Israel occupied the West Bank, including East Jerusalem, and the Gaza Strip during the 1967 war. These territories became central to subsequent peace negotiations and disputes.

D. Oslo Accords, 1993–1995

The Oslo process created a framework for Israeli-Palestinian negotiations and the establishment of the Palestinian Authority. It did not resolve final-status issues.

E. Gaza Since 2007

Following internal Palestinian political conflict, Hamas established control over Gaza in 2007, while the Palestinian Authority continued to administer parts of the West Bank.

F. War Beginning in October 2023

The Hamas-led attacks on Israel on 7 October 2023 and the subsequent Israeli military campaign produced extensive loss of life, hostage-taking, displacement, destruction and humanitarian suffering.

3. Timeline: From Gaza War to Board of Peace

7 October 2023: Hamas-led attacks on Israel triggered a major escalation and subsequent war in Gaza.

29 September 2025: US Comprehensive Plan to End the Gaza Conflict.

10 October 2025: US-brokered ceasefire framework took effect.

17 November 2025: UNSC Resolution 2802 endorsed the peace plan and welcomed the Board of Peace.

January 2026: Palestinian transitional arrangements and associated leadership structures were announced.

22 January 2026: Board of Peace charter launched in Davos.

October 2026: Major political, security and humanitarian implementation challenges remain.

4. What Is the Board of Peace?

The Board of Peace is a US-led international mechanism associated with the transitional administration and reconstruction of Gaza.

Resolution 2803 welcomes the Board's establishment as a transitional administration with international legal personality.

The Board is intended to coordinate funding, redevelopment and oversight under the Comprehensive Plan.

Main Objectives

- Support implementation of the ceasefire framework.
- Coordinate humanitarian recovery and reconstruction.
- Oversee transitional governance arrangements.

- Help mobilise international financial resources.
- Support security arrangements and demilitarisation objectives.
- Facilitate conditions for eventual Palestinian administration.

Prelims Concept

The Board of Peace is not the United Nations Security Council, the International Court of Justice or a UN specialised agency.

It is a distinct international mechanism welcomed by the Security Council for implementation of the Gaza peace framework.

5. UN Security Council Resolution 2803 (2025)

Feature	Important Detail
Resolution	2803 (2025)
Date	17 November 2025
Votes in favour	13
Votes against	0
Abstentions	China and Russia
Core subject	Comprehensive Plan to End the Gaza Conflict
Important body	Board of Peace
Security mechanism	International Stabilization Force

Important Provisions

1. Endorsement of the Comprehensive Plan to End the Gaza Conflict.
2. Recognition of the Board of Peace's transitional role.
3. Support for humanitarian assistance and redevelopment.
4. Authorisation of arrangements connected with an International Stabilization Force.
5. Provision for a Palestinian technocratic committee for day-to-day governance.
6. Recognition of a possible pathway to Palestinian self-determination and statehood.

Important Legal Distinction

Security Council recognition of the Board does not make it identical to a traditional UN peacekeeping mission. The International Stabilization Force is a separately authorised arrangement under the resolution.

6. Institutional Structure: Who Does What?

Board of Peace

International political, financial and transitional oversight mechanism chaired by Donald Trump.

Palestinian Technocratic Committee

The National Committee for the Administration of Gaza is intended to manage public services and municipal administration.

International Stabilization Force

A proposed multinational security arrangement to support stabilisation and implementation of the peace framework.

Palestinian Authority

Envisaged as a potential longer-term governing authority following reforms and progress in reconstruction.

Board of Peace vs UN Peacekeeping

Board of Peace / Gaza Framework	Traditional UN Peacekeeping
Distinct US-led peace and transitional governance mechanism	UN missions authorised or established through UN processes
Focused on the Gaza peace framework	Operates in different conflict situations

Provides political, financial and transitional oversight	May involve monitoring, civilian protection and peace implementation
Associated with an authorised International Stabilization Force	Usually operates through a UN mission structure

7. Why Is the Board of Peace Important?

A. International Security

Gaza's conflict has wider implications for the stability of West Asia, Israeli and Palestinian security and relations among regional and global powers.

B. Reconstruction and Development

The destruction of housing, healthcare, transport, water infrastructure and other services requires substantial long-term reconstruction.

C. Palestinian Governance

The proposed transitional arrangements seek to establish administrative mechanisms that can deliver essential public services.

D. International Cooperation

Successful implementation would require coordination among Israel, Palestinian representatives, regional mediators, international institutions and participating states.

E. Two-State Solution

The framework refers to conditions that could create a pathway to Palestinian self-determination and eventual statehood.

However, a political reference to statehood does not guarantee its achievement.

8. Major Challenges Facing the Board

Disarmament Dispute

Disagreement over the timing, verification and conditions of Hamas disarmament continues to obstruct implementation.

Israeli Military Withdrawal

The sequencing of security arrangements and Israeli troop withdrawal remains a central dispute.

Palestinian Legitimacy

An enduring settlement requires politically credible Palestinian participation, accountability and meaningful self-government.

Humanitarian Emergency

Displacement, damaged infrastructure and inadequate essential services continue to affect Gaza's population.

Financing Gap

The financial resources required for large-scale recovery exceed funds that can be rapidly deployed.

International Trust

Differences among major powers and regional stakeholders can undermine implementation and public confidence.

Current Affairs Caution

The existence of the Board and its internationally recognised framework should not be confused with successful implementation of all elements of the peace plan.

By October 2026, several core security, governance and reconstruction objectives remain incomplete.

9. International Law and Humanitarian Principles

The Gaza peace framework raises major issues under international law and global humanitarian governance.

A. UN Charter

The UN Charter provides the international framework for peace and security, peaceful dispute settlement and the role of the Security Council.

B. International Humanitarian Law

International humanitarian law requires protection of civilians and regulates the conduct of hostilities.

C. Self-Determination

The right of Palestinians to self-determination is central to the broader political settlement.

D. Humanitarian Assistance

Aid delivery must consider civilian needs, humanitarian principles, and relevant legal obligations.

E. Accountability

Durable peace requires credible mechanisms for accountability, legal protection and prevention of future violations.

10. India's Position and Strategic InterestsA. India-Israel Relations

India has substantial cooperation with Israel in defence technology, agriculture, water management, innovation and trade.

B. India-Palestine Relations

India has historically supported Palestinian aspirations and a negotiated two-state solution.

C. Strategic Autonomy

India seeks to maintain constructive ties with Israel, Palestine, the United States and important Arab partners, without being bound to a single regional bloc.

D. Energy Security

Instability in West Asia can affect energy supplies, oil prices, shipping insurance and transportation costs.

E. Indian Diaspora

Millions of Indians live and work across West Asia, making regional peace important for livelihoods and remittances.

F. Connectivity

Regional stability is relevant to India's wider connectivity interests, including the proposed India–Middle East–Europe Economic Corridor.

India's Preferred Approach

Support peaceful dialogue, protect civilians, encourage humanitarian access, promote a negotiated two-state solution and maintain balanced strategic partnerships.
